

Breath Paintings

Using paper straws and poster paints put some splodges of colour onto a piece of large paper and encourage your child to blow each splodge to create a breath pattern. See if they can blend one splodge into another to create new colours.

You will need:

Paper

Paint

Drinking straws

Top Tip

Watery paint will move quickly across your page so you'll have to use little breaths. Thick paint will need a stronger breath for you to make your artwork.

How to:

Pour a few blobs of paint onto your paper. Two or three different colours.

Blow the paint around the page using a straw.

Merge the colours together and make a masterpiece using your breath!
