

Science

Coughing is a natural reflex and is our body's way of quickly getting rid of irritants from our airways and lungs. Like a sneeze, the air expelled by a cough can travel up to 100 miles per hour!